Technical Expertise

EngenderHealth is committed to advancing acceptance of sexual and reproductive rights as human rights and expanding access to critical health information and high-quality services. We are internationally recognized for our expertise in:

Gender: We integrate gender-equitable approaches across all projects to ensure that women and girls can make informed choices and to address harmful norms that limit access to critical services and impede women's and girls' rights.

Contraception and sexual and reproductive health: We employ a rights-based approach that emphasizes clients' full, free, informed choice of contraceptive methods and expands access to high-quality information and services. We are committed to ensuring access to a comprehensive range of contraceptives, including long-acting reversible contraceptives and permanent methods, and to comprehensive abortion care.

Maternal health: Applying a patient-centered approach, our programs focus on enabling facilities and providers to offer high-quality maternal healthcare, including essential and emergency obstetric care and postnatal care. EngenderHealth has particular expertise in fistula prevention and treatment.

Adolescents and youth: Our approach to context-specific, youth-centered programming seeks to offer youth-responsive services, including age-appropriate information on sexual and reproductive health; engage communities to create an enabling environment for improving young people's sexual and reproductive health; advocate for supportive laws and policies; engage young people in all phases of programming; and transform harmful social norms.

Quality of care: We have developed several globally applied tools to support program managers and providers at all levels to ensure high-quality, client-centered care.

Community engagement: We partner with influential community leaders and strengthen community systems in order to generate acceptance of and support for health services and honor each person's right to high-quality sexual and reproductive healthcare.

Health systems strengthening: We work with partners to build equitable health systems and support universal health coverage by improving the availability, accessibility, acceptability, and quality of services; advancing research and innovation; and promoting ownership and sustainability.
